QUESTION 4

A large medical research company Certkiller .com wants to reduce the high CPU usage on their servers in order to improve the user experience. Most users work with a web-based tool that is graphic-intensive. They work with files that need to be accessed from multiple locations and by multiple users so that researchers can access the files as they make their rounds through clinics. What should the administrator implement to meet the company's requirements?

- A. Application limits
- B. Published desktops
- C. Server-to-client content redirection

D. Client-to-server content redirection

Answer: C

QUESTION 5

The Citrix Administrator at a Certkiller .com plans on deploying a web-based cataloging application consisting of new items under development. The application includes JPEG images of product prototypes alongside detailed descriptions.

This application will be accessed by a group of engineers from remote field sites with limited network bandwidth. This application will only be provided by means of a single set of servers running Presentation Server that will be deployed within the new server farm. Access to the data source is controlled so that data queries may originate only from the servers running Presentation Server. The JPEG images are large files and users require graphical detail even when using dial-up, wireless WAN, or other slow connections.

Which three SpeedScreen Browser Acceleration options should be configured at the server farm level? (Choose three.)

- A. Determine when to compress
- B. Enable SpeedScreen Browser Acceleration
- C. Compress JPEG images to improve bandwidth and set the compression level to high
- D. Compress JPEG images to improve bandwidth and set the compression level to low
- E. Use farm settings for SpeedScreen Browser Acceleration

Answer: A,B,D

QUESTION 6

Certkiller .com recently implemented Citrix Presentation Server. The company plans to use the shadowing feature to improve their help desk activities. Specifically, the company wants the help desk personnel to be able to shadow all users in the company's domain and manipulate their work stations remotely. For security and privacy reasons, the company wants to ensure that users must accept shadowing before help desk personnel can shadow them. During the Presentation Server installation, the administrator allowed shadowing but did not configure any settings for remote control or shadow acceptance. The administrator has just created a policy titled "Shadowing." Which two steps are required to accomplish this task? (Choose two.)

- A. Enable shadowing in a policy and prohibit remote input when being shadowed.
- B. Enable shadowing in a policy and prohibit being shadowed without notification.
- C. Enable permissions for all help desk users and set status to allow.
